

APA 7th edition formatting for essays and reports

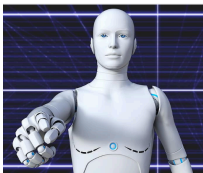

In this module, you are learning how to organise your ideas in writing. In addition, you will need to know how to structure your essays and reports, following the APA 7th edition model. You are graded on this in Assessment 3.

1. Watch the video, which provides instructions on how to format your documents, using the APA 7th edition model and complete the summary.
2. Check your understanding of APA 7th edition formatting, prepare your document by following the instructions on the video.

Videos

Essential: Formatting your writing APA 7th edition

style

Part of organising your writing is formatting the document following the APA 7th edition style.

For this subject, you must format Assessment 3 in APA 7th edition style. You will be graded on this.

Watch the video and fill in the summary. It is best to read through the summary before watching to get some idea of the content.

Watch and listen to the video. Fill in the gaps with a word from the video. The form of the word may have to change to make the sentence grammatical. The first letter is given to you, so do not include this in your answer.

Note that unless your teacher instructs you otherwise, you do not have to write an a [] or a running head. This is how to format your essay. Firstly, you should write a p [] number at the top of the page. Throughout the essay, you must use the same f [] and the same font size, except for f [] or figures, which can use smaller font size. You don't have to use Times New Roman (size 12); you can use Calibri (size 11), Arial (size 11) Georgia (size 11). The rest of the paper is d []-spaced, and that there is no space before and after each p []. On the cover page, you press "enter" f [] times and then you can type the t [] of the essay, which is c []. The title must be b [] and in title case, which means that the content words are c [] but smaller functional words such as "in" and "the" are not capitalised, unless they come after the c []. If you write a long title, it can be written on t [] lines. After the title is written, press "e []" a couple of times so there is a larger space between the title and other information such as your n [], your d [] and the name of the u [] and the c [] name. Below that, comes the tutor's name and below that comes the d []. To go to the following page, insert a page b [] because it keeps your information separate. On the next page, the title is r [] and centred. On the next line, you start your essay. Every paragraph in the essay is i []. There is no extra s [] before or after the heading and there is no heading called "I []". Other headings can be used in the essay such as "Methods", "Results", or "D []". There are f [] different levels of headings, and all headings use t [] case. The reference list has a heading called "R []" in bold, and it is centred on a s [] page. The first entry is l [] aligned and all the references are h []. If your tutor asks for an a [], it is placed on the page after the title page. Write "Abstract" in the c [] of the page in b []. Directly after the heading, start writing the abstract, which is the o [] paragraph that is not i [], and which is no longer than 250 w

How to format your document APA 7th edition

(https://www.bilibili.com/video/BV1VE411u7jE/?spm_id_from=333.337.search-card.all.click)

Check your understanding

APA 7th edition formatting

Check your understanding of the APA 7th edition formatting for a document, listen to the video again.

This time, follow the instructions; that is, format your word document while listening, in preparation for Assessment 3.

This will save you lots of time.

Questions & Answers

APA 7th edition formatting

If you have any questions, or would like to discuss answers, please post in the

Textual Module: Q&A Discussion Forum

(https://canvas.utscollge.edu.au/courses/7983/discussion_topics/198365)